Sourland Mountain Preserve

The 4,000 acre Sourland Mountain Preserve is County owned and administered by the Somerset County Park Commission. The Preserve provides passive recreational opportunities in an undisturbed natural setting.

The Preserve occupies a portion of the northeast “point” of the Sourland Region, which stretches southwest across Hillsborough and Montgomery Townships through southern Hunterdon and northern Mercer counties to the Delaware River.

The name Sourland is believed to be derived from “sorrel-land” which describes the sorrel (reddish-brown) colored soils encountered by the pioneering German farmers.

The Sourland Mountain Preserve offers several recreational opportunities in an undisturbed natural setting, including hiking, mountain biking, bird watching, bouldering and horseback riding.

Whether you are a person seeking solitude, or someone who is bringing their family for a day of fun, Sourland Mountain Preserve has something for the outdoors person in all of us.

Natural Resources

The Sourland Mountain Preserve is extremely rich in natural resources. It is a natural area that boasts a variety of stream corridors, geologic outcrops, and an ecological preserve that provides a core habitat for a diversity of plant and animal species.

The Sourland Mountain Preserve offers an array of watchable wildlife including Red Fox, Gray Fox, coyote, deer, a variety of amphibians and reptiles and many species of migrating and nesting birds. The Sourlands is especially known for its nesting birds on the edges of their breeding areas including Summer Tanager, Winter Wren, and Black-Capped and Carolina Chickadees.

Geology

The Sourland Mountain Preserve is located in the Piedmont Province, one of five physiographic provinces in New Jersey. The Piedmont in New Jersey covers approximately one-fifth of the state, occupying most of Somerset County. In the area of the Sourland

Mountain Preserve, the Piedmont is characterized by rolling relief to steep hillsides. The area is underlain by three major geologic formations: the Lockatong Formation, the Brunswick Formation, and the Diabas Outcrop. All of these formations are Triassic Age sedimentary and igneous rock deposited (or formed) between 150 and 180 million years ago, when the land was covered by the sea.

Hydrology

The Sourland Mountain Preserve region performs an important regional water quality function. High quality water flows within the headwaters that originate on the mountain before traveling into other areas of central New Jersey. That water dilutes the affects of downstream pollution and maintains stream flow and the biotic communities supported by these streams.

Protect Your Parks

Please follow the posted park regulations so that everyone may enjoy the park. Leave flowers, plants, animals, and other features as you found them. Possessing or consuming alcoholic beverages is not permitted. Pets must be on leashes. The park is open each day from dawn until dusk, unless otherwise posted. Park Rangers are available to assist you.

Somerset County Park Commission welcomes everyone to participate in its programs and facilities regardless of race, color, gender, disability, age, sexual orientation, national origin, or religious or political affiliation.

Trail Tips

- Know your physical condition.
- Choose an appropriate trail for your ability before you begin your trip.
- Share the trail. Bikes always yield to others. Hikers yield to equestrians.
- Leave no trace. Please carry out your trash.
- Stay on designated trails.
- Avoid using trails during wet conditions.
- Follow all park rules and regulations.
- Be courteous and alert.
- Be responsible.
- All trails begin and end at the Trailhead.
- Some trail intersections have a numbered wooden post as a reference point.
- Trail symbols are on the trail intersection tress and posts. Where Trail Loops overlap, the symbols of all trails involved are displayed.

Thank you.
